Foreign Languages and Literatures

Ms. Charlotte A. Moran was a French professor in the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures at Hood from 1966 to 1989. From 1982 to 1989 she was, in alternative years, coordinator of Hood's On-Campus Office of the Junior Year at Strasbourg University. She also served on nearly all faculty committees at the college.

In partnership with the Charlotte Moran Visiting Scholar Fund, the Department of Foreign Languages and Literatures is proud to host distinguished scholars and authors from Arabic, French, German, and Spanish speaking countries.

Professor Moran received many honors and awards, including two French Government Awards; Mortar Board; Alpha Psi Omega Honorary Dramatic Society; Fulbright Scholar; Honorary Citizen of Faliaxe, France; Honorary member of Pi Delta Phi French Honor Society; Alliance Francaise award; American Association Teachers of French/Quebec Government Grants; two Hood College Board of Associates grants; and a Hood College Beneficial Hodson Faculty Fellowship.

Ms. Charlotte A. Moran, died July 28, 2000 at Frederick Memorial Hospital. She was 64.

Nora Strejilevich

Nora Strejilevich is a writer and professor of Latin American Literature who survived State Terror in her country, Argentina, in 1977. Her testimonial novel Una sola muerte numerosa was translated into English in 2002 as A Single, Numberless Death. Her book length essay El arte de no olvidar: literatura testimonial en Chile, Argentina y Uruguay / The Art of Not Forgetting: Testimonial Literature in Chile, Argentina, and Uruguay (2006) is the outcome of her extensive research on Testimony. Strejilevich's work in progress is a book length manuscript: The Testimonial Space. She has published several articles on the subject, and has been a guest speaker at various universities in the United states, Latin America and Europe.

She has been a Research Associate in the Five Colleges Women Studies Research Center, in Massachusetts (2007), and a Fulbright Fellow at Universidad de Chile (2010). She is currently doing research on human rights at the Center for the Study of Genocide (Universidad Tres de Febrero, Buenos Aires, Argentina).
